

Checkers and UFC champ Dricus du Plessis join forces to support local

In-between preparing for his highly anticipated fight later this month, UFC Middleweight Champion, Dricus du Plessis, has partnered with Checkers to launch two locally produced products for sports enthusiasts and fans.

The Stillknocks shirt by Old School – a true collector's item

Dricus' apparel brand, Stillknocks, and popular South African sports supporter gear brand, Old School, have produced a limited-edition supporter shirt.

Famed for bringing back the 80s and 90s style vintage rugby shirts that Mzansi loves, Old School has designed a one-of-a-kind collared V-neck shirt featuring a Stillknocks badge with his initials, DDP, and the champs' signature on the label.

This collector's item is available at R599.99 exclusively through Checkers Sixty60 on Thursday 8 August only, and in selected stores from Friday 9 August while limited stocks last.

Visit www.sixty60.co.za/stillknocks.html for more information, including the list of areas where the shirt will be available.

Knox Hydration – a knockout range of sparkling hydration drinks

A bold new range of sparkling hydration drinks hit the Checkers shelves this week after the retailer partnered with UFC champion Dricus du Plessis.

Exclusively available at Checkers, Knox Hydration offers ultimate hydration to support every athlete's needs in the shape of a tasty drink packed with essential vitamins, minerals, electrolytes, amino acids and branched-chain amino acids (BCAAs) for ultimate hydration and muscle recovery support.

The sparkling hydration drink is caffeine-free and low in kilojoules with just 350kJ per 500ml can, making it ideal for any consumer wishing to hydrate, replenish and recover. It also boasts ingredients such as magnesium and taurine for added energy boost during strenuous activity.

Knox Hydration drinks retail for just R19,99 each and are available in five flavours – Lemon Lime, Blue Raspberry, Strawberry Watermelon, Orange Naartjie and Peach. Every can features Du Plessis' signature to give fans something to treasure.
